Embracing Change

The political shift following the November 1996 elections in Romania created an opportunity for our Foundation to support the emerging democratic government and its role in building an open society - an important challenge which had to be taken up. But this new situation also presented dilemmas for us. For the first time since the beginning of our activities in 1990, our position in relation to the government had to change. We had to shift from opposition to partnership after six years of constant struggle with a state unwilling to share its power. And, inasmuch as the Romanian state's unwillingness to let go of power and take risks was, since 1990, rooted in that state's profound vulnerability and insecurity, many of the same problems continued to manifest themselves after November 1996. Our Foundation has played, and continues to play, an active role in the massive restructuring of the system of power in Romania. It was the first major donor to support the rise and development of civil society through the empowerment of people, groups and grassroots organizations. Now it had to find ways to establish partnerships with the state for certain, well-defined purposes, and to make these partnerships work in spite of this continued inflexibility and risk-aversion.

Predictably, and in spite of much political goodwill, this new relationship with the government has proved to be a challenging one. The experience gained by the Foundation in working with civil society since 1990 proved to be largely inapplicable when setting up a basis for cooperation with the new government.

In this context of change, Mr. Soros decided in June 1997 to support the reform efforts of the Romanian government by launching major initiatives in areas which are traditionally the state's preserve, namely: public administration, legal and judiciary reform, primary and secondary education and public health. With this objective in mind our Foundation began a major restructuring in order to cope with the new challenges. In August 1997, a new institution was born: Open Society Foundation, a Romanian legal entity founded by George Soros. In the same time, the Soros Foundation for an Open Society, an association of 35 Romanian individuals, started the process of closing down and transfer of its assets and legal obligations to the newly established legal entity. The new Foundation was restructured at all levels: a new board was appointed and new staff was hired.

Naturally, criticisms of the changes taking place at our Foundation were expressed by those who were concerned by the uncertainty, instability and insecurity inherent to such a radical change - among them Mr. Soros himself. These critical views were taken into account, and we believe the restructuring was both fair and well done. It was a period full of challenges in which we had to address both organizational needs and those, even more pressing, of Romanian society. OSF started its operations by late Novemberearly December 1997. We have now a professional staff and we are enthusiastic about the progress we have made in such a short time. In a few months of intense work, we have designed programs in the four major areas targeted for action by Mr. Soros, and have developed exciting new ideas to effect change.

We are building both a network and a team at OSF. The network is based on the infrastructure of our four branches in Bucharest, Cluj, lasi and Timisoara, and the team is made up of the people working in close cooperation across the branches. We are building common approaches and sharing a common language. All are based on the mission that remains unchanged: "building an open society".

Yet we are all different. While the use of common approaches can enable us to share a 'common language' in group situations, at the same time we encourage our colleagues to take initiative and develop what works for them in terms of thinking creatively, solving problems or making contributions. There may be further mountains and additional peaks to climb. Circumstances or the context can change again. While we are pleased with past successes, we want to continue to challenge ourselves as we move forward.

What is an "open society?"

An open society is a society based on the recognition that nobody has a monopoly on the truth, that different people have different views and interests, and that there is a need for institutions to protect the rights of all people to allow them to live together in peace. The term "open society" was popularized by the philosopher Karl Popper in his 1945 book Open Society and Its Enemies. Broadly speaking, an open society is characterized by a reliance on the rule of law, the existence of a democratically elected government, a diverse and vigorous civil society, and respect for minorities and minority opinions.

What is the Open Society Foundation Romania?

Open Society Foundation Romania, a non-governmental, non-partisan and non-profit organization, was established in 1997. It continues the activity of the Soros Foundation for an Open Society Romania, created by George Soros in 1990. OSF Romania has four branches, located in Bucharest, Cluj-Napoca, lasi and Timisoara.

Open Society Foundation Romania wishes to contribute, through the accomplishment of its programs, to the reform of the Romanian society in four essential fields: Public administration, Legal and legislative system, Health and Education. The Foundation is continuing its efforts to support initiatives in fields of great interest for the Romanian public: Civil society, Entrepreneurship, Publishing and Libraries, Roma minority, Arts and Culture, Media and Communication.

The main goal of the Foundation's activities is the accomplishment of an open and pluralistic society, based on a stable and functioning democracy, with institutions which serve the individual.

Within its programs, the Foundation grants funding on the basis of an open competition between projects. All funding requests and project proposals undergo a selection process and are evaluated by expert commission, according to criteria publicly announced at the same time when the competition for each program is launched.

What organizations and institutions were established by OSF Romania?

Dynamic Network Tecyhnologies (DNT), with branches in Bucharest, Cluj, lasi and Timisoara, is a commercial company established in 1997, as a spin-off of the OSF-funded Computers and Communications Centers (CCCs). DNT also includes the Cluj Conference Room and Mobile Translation System and the lasi Conference and Training Support Unit. DNT is a full Internet service provider.

The Book Foundation in Bucharest is also one of the DNT branches and operates as an important book reseller, providing access to foreign academic books, not otherwise accessible.

International Center for Contemporary Arts Bucharest is the spin-off of OSF-funded Soros Center for Contemporary Arts. It was opened in 1993 and is meant to stimulate intercultural contacts and exchange, as well as to promote creative projects and initiatives in alternative, non-conventional art Student Advisory and Placement Center (APC) Bucharest developed as an independent institution from a SFOS program which started in 1993, for assisting young graduates in career orientation and in finding jobs on the new job-market. APC has a close co-operation with Romanian universities.

Step by Step Center for Education and Professional Training Bucharest promotes the Step by Step system which is officially accepted as an educational alternative within the national educational system.

Visual Arts Foundation (FAV) is a self-financing foundation, established in 1993. It is a valuable resource for the young filmmakers in Romania that offers consulting services in the field of visual arts.

Computer Publishing Center Bucharest - CPC - has been developing desktop publishing techniques and training for professionals, also training in basic computer skills; it provides courses, seminars, demonstrations on IBM, UNIX and MacIntosh platforms. CPC also provides a wide range of services related to computer design and production. It is now fully self-financed.

International House Timisoara Center of Modern Languages, founded in 1992, offers courses of modern languages, as well as Romanian language courses for foreigners. It is now fully self-financed.

ACCESS-Center of Modern Languages-Cluj was established in 1996 and it provides modern language teaching/learning services. It is expected to become self-sustainable in 1999.

Center for Study Opportunities Cluj facilitates relations between Romanian and foreign universities and provides assistance to those interested in study opportunities.

English Language Center ELC lasi, established in 1995, aims at promoting English language teaching, as well as teaching/learning other foreign languages and Romanian (as a foreign language).

Job Placement Center lasi offers career services focused on assisting students and graduates.

What is the Sovos network?

The network consists of autonomous nonprofit organizations operating in 29 countries throughout Central and Eastern Europe, the former Soviet Union, and Central Eurasia, as well as in Southern Africa, Haiti, Guatemala, and the United States.

What is the Open Society Institute-Budapest?

The Open Society Institute-Budapest was established in 1993 to develop and implement programs in the areas of educational, social, and legal reform. The Open Society Institute-Budapest is part of the Soros foundations network. Together with its sister organization, the Open Society Institute-New York, the Open Society Institute-Budapest assists the foundations and organizations in the network by providing administrative, financial, and technical support, and by establishing "network orograms" that link different foundations within the network. The Open Society Institute-Budapest is separate from the Soros Foundation-Hungary, which funds programs exclusively within Hungary.

What is the Open Society Institute-New York?

The Open Society Institute-New York is a private operating and grantmaking foundation that seeks to promote the development of open societies around the world by supporting educational, social, and legal reform, and by encouraging alternative approaches to complex and often controversial issues. It is part of the Soros foundations network and together with the Open Society Institute-Budapest, the Open Society Institute-New York assists the foundations and organizations in the network by providing administrative, financial, and technical support, as well as by establishing "network programs" that link different foundations within the network.

Who is George Soros?

George Soros was born in Budapest, Hungary in 1930. In 1947 he emigrated to England, where he graduated from the London School of Economics. While a student at the London School of Economics, Mr. Soros became familiar with the work of the philosopher Karl Popper, who had a profound influence on his thinking and later on his philanthropic activities. In 1956 he moved to the United States, where he began to accumulate a large fortune through an international investment fund he founded and managed.

Mr. Soros established his first foundation, the Open Society Fund, in New York in 1979 and his first Eastern European foundation in Hungary in 1984. He now funds a network of foundations that operate in 29 countries throughout Central and Eastern Europe, the former Soviet Union, and Central Eurasia, as well as in Southern Africa, Haiti, Guatemala, and the United States. These foundations are dedicated to building and maintaining the infrastructure and institutions of an open society. Soros has also founded other major institutions, such as the Central European University and the International Science Foundation. In 1994, the foundations in the network spent a total of approximately $300 million; in 1995, $350 million; and in 1996, $362 million. Giving for 1997 is expected to be maintained at a similar level.

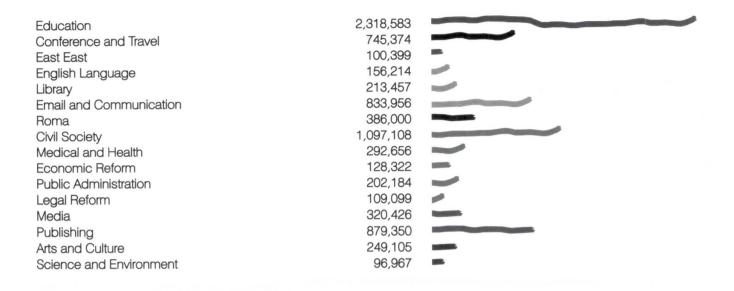

In addition to many articles on the political and economic changes in Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union, Mr. Soros is the author of The Alchemy of Finance, published by Simon & Schuster in 1987 and republished in 1994 by John Wiley & Sons; Opening the Soviet System, published by Weidenfeld & Nicholson in 1990; and Underwriting Democracy, published by the Free Press in 1991. Mr. Soros's most recent book, Soros on Soros: Staying ahead of the Curve, was published by John Wiley & Sons in September 1995.

Mr. Soros has received honorary doctoral degrees from the New School for Social Research, the University of Oxford, the Budapest University of Economics, and Yale University. In 1995, the University of Bologna awarded Mr. Soros its highest honor, the Laurea Honoris Causa, in recognition of his efforts to promote open societies throughout the world.

Advising Centers

Advisory and Placement Center Bucharest 48,000 USD

APC Bucharest started its activity in November 1993, as a program of the Soros Foundation for an Open Society, being designed as a link between universities and organizations offering vacancies for students and/or graduates.

Now APC is a foundation, which aims to help university graduates and students to make the right choice for their careers. APC has a computerized database including businesses, organizations and institutions offering vacancies, as well as students and graduates who are looking for a job opportunity. APC also offers advice on how to write a CV and a motivation letter, as well as scientific-level interviews and psychological tests. The Advisory and Placement Center organizes training groups, job salons, seminars and conferences, in collaboration with university centers.

Educational Advising Center Timisoara 26,073 USD

The Center facilitates the participation of students in international educational programs (undergraduate, master's, doctoral, short-term and non-degree level). It offers study-abroad advising, access to a large resource library on educational programs and it also functions as an information center for the various educational and professional programs offered in the region by other institutions.

Special study and practice opportunities are offered for the development of effective academic and professional skills.

In 1997, the Center received 3350 requests for information and advice. Fourteen of our advisees succeeded in entering prestigious higher education institutions in the USA and Europe.

The center offered 38 mini-grants in amount of 2890 USD covering TOEFL, SAT and GRE fees for 12 high school and 23 university students. Selection was based on the official test score.

Educational Advising Center Cluj 24,995 USD

The Center offers assistance in the cooperation between Romanian and foreign higher education institutions, advise for students who wish to study abroad, career advising and counseling in proposal writing.

Debate

Debate with long-standing traditions in English-speaking countries is a framework for the structured discussion on various topics.

It is a subject matter studied in colleges and universities throughout U.S.A., U.K., Australia and Japan, especially by those students who specialize in law, political studies, journalism or any other fields that imply involvement in public life. Debate is also an intellectual game, a contest in which two opposing teams try to prove the truthfulness of a line of thought by force of their arguments and rhetorical skills.

Debating comes in many forms. Competitive, parliamentary, extemporaneous, instant, cross-examination are just a few from the wide range of available formats. The number of participants also varies from 2 to 4 in a team. In some debates the speakers only deliver their speeches, while in others they are also given the opportunity to cross-question. In Romania, the history of debate started in 1994, when Competitive Debate was introduced by the Regional High School and University Debate Program of the Soros Foundation for an Open Society Romania.

Debating develops: oral expression, logical and critical thinking, skill in organizing one's thoughts, rhetorical skills, self-confidence, fighting stage-fright, ability to work in a team, empathy and tolerance for other people's opinions, one's manner in a public performance.

Using Debate in a foreign language also gives valuable practice in developing skills like: listening, reading, writing, speaking, conscious use of the foreign language for a real purpose, linguistic development, improvement of fluency.

Health Education Program for School Doctors 64,749 USD

The overall goal of the program was to assist in the transformation of the fundamental process of educational methodology in Central and Eastern Europe, by introducing an innovative curriculum on: nutrition, smoking prevention, alcohol and other drugs prevention, human sexuality, environment, conflict and communication.

Program costs covered the translation of the Conflict and Communication manual and of the Human Sexuality manual, the printing of 1,000 Health Education manuals, 100 Teacher Training manuals, as well as of the following information materials: Psychology for kids; The Kids' book of questions and answers; The book of questions about sex; 14 different Health Education leaflets (5,000 copies of each leaflet); the Food Pyramid poster.

The program also involved the copying of videocassettes on Sexuality, AIDS, and Smoking in schools, Alcohol and other drugs in schools, Alcohol and car accidents. These tapes were used for Health Education seminars and Health Education Centers in 15 Romanian high schools.

Seminars were organized for teachers, nurses, medical students and women, with the participation of associations involving the groups mentioned. TV and radio shows were broadcast and a survey was accomplished in 15 Romanian high schools (15 different districts) for 9-11-grade students, on Health Education issues; another survey was carried out for teachers and parents, on Health Education issues.

Agora/Peer Counseling 20,257 USD

The program supported the implementation of extra-curricular activities for high school students and was oriented towards the community and its problems. This program was a real novelty in the framework of the Romanian educational system. The students were involved in activities as: knowledge and self-knowledge in the relation to the others, activities with institutionalized children, cleaning the cities, entertaining competitions and games, organizing summer camps.

Youth Open Grants Program 88,864 WSD

The program aimed at supporting extracurricular activities of high school and university students. It has encouraged development of skills needed in an open society: clear definition of ideas, tolerance for minority groups and minority opinions, responsible decision making-by encouraging student initiatives, diversity and input into current social and political issues. It offered the opportunity to acquire management skills and it encouraged involvement in the contemporary problems by participating as active members in society. It started as a regional initiative in 1994 with a budget of 100,000 USD. It became a national program in 1995. In 1996 the program was expanded into universities.

Computer Communication and Training Centers CCTC Bucharest 174,022 USD CCTC Cluj 26,207 USD CCTC lasi 123,030 USD CCTC Timisoara 107,391 USD

Acting as "centers of excellence" in networking, training, technical resource and communications channels for Romania, the Communication Centers crossed the limit of a "technical experiment" and became a "public resource", vital for a big fraction of its users. The main activities developed by the Centers since their establishment have been:

- widening the access of schools, universities, NGOs, and other organizations and institutions to the Internet;
- modern training for a variety of potential Internet users;
- training for network administrators;
- upgrading the hardware and the software for the Internet nodes in order to enhance the quality of services;
- offering full Internet connectivity for the OSF Offices, for OSF's spin-offs and programs;
- technical support and expertise;
- developing tools and techniques for using Internet and Intranet solutions in both educational and commercial domains

Civic Education for Youth 535 MSD

Focused mainly on the youth between 13 and 15 years old, in 1997 the project aimed to finalise the Youth Local Council in Timisoara. The project was carried out in order to let youth express their opinions and desires, to formulate and implement their own projects, receive answers for their own needs.

The youth took part into the local administration, got familiarised with the mechanism of democratic elections, with the specific institutions and procedures of elections. In this way they learnt about the way the local administration functions and were involved in the process of local development, proposed and solved typical problems for the area in which they live.

Simultaneously, they increased their communication abilities, in relation with other young people and with adults. Also their ability to draw and follow the accomplishment of a personal or collective project, the ability to take part into a dialogue and the ability to negotiate increased.

Romanian Medical Internet Regional 60,961 USD Romanian Medical Internet National 7,664 USD

The Medical Internet Project was introduced in 1997 in 6 East European Countries, in order to promote the electronic access, delivery, retrieval and exchange of medical and health information. The Romanian Medical Internet Program is part of a regional initiative. It started in Romania in the second half of 1997 and will be continued until 2000. Some of the main purposes of this program are the following:

- to contribute to the development of a national health information network also by co-funding (on a competitive basis) projects for establishing local networks and Intranets for major medical institutions;
- to facilitate the access to the medical information using Internet and Intranets as main communication media;
- to offer the possibility to distribute the medical data quickly and easily;
- to promote development of medical Internet and CD-ROM resources, both in English and Romanian language;

In its first stage, the program has been developed in Bucharest and in counties of Cluj, lasi and Timis; it will be soon expanded in other counties.

Bucharest 25,266 USD

Approximately 100 farmers from the counties of Bistrita-Nasaud and Hunedoara were trained since program started. The trained farmers started in their villages study-groups where the Counselling Center in Bistrita provides continuous training and advice. Via lessons of democracy and civic education included in the course, and via transfer of social technology, the farmers have initiated unions, professional and lucrative associations, assisted by the Counselling Center.

The training was in the form of apprenticeship, with each Romanian lodging in a Swiss farm, and having to attend weekly courses at the Institute for Agriculture of the Canton of Jura. Publishing Programs

- Initiated in 1993, the publishing support program was gradually developed into the following major lines of activity:

 1) Book Publishing Support between 1993-1997, the Soros Foundation offered grants for the publication of about 580 books, by Romanian and foreign
- 2) Academic, Cultural and Professional Magazine Support in 1997, the foundation partially covered the production and equipment costs of 78
- 3) Publishing Fundamental Books in Romanian Culture, with the purpose of building up a collection of reference books in different fields, belonging to classical and contemporary writers;
- 4) East-West Translations, a matching funds program, in cooperation with CEU Press, meant to encourage translations of Western literature in Central and East European countries, creating thus a "common market of the mind";
- 5) Training for Publishers a program aiming at discussing such topics as sales policy, selection and ordering, exhibitions and distribution.

The Third Europe +2,144 USD

Initiated in 1997 as a scholarly project, involving an interdisciplinary group of students and young researchers, under the coordination of Adriana Babeti and Cornel Ungureanu from the West University in Timisoara, the program proposed a cultural perspective for the studying of Central Europe as a suppositional "Third Europe" (geo-political area, cultural model and mental-affective matrix). Within only a few months an ambitious program on research and publishing has been undertaken. "The Third Europe" magazine appeared, an anthology of texts dedicated to the concept of Central Europe has been published, as well as the translation of other works related to the topic (Le Rider's "Mitteleuropa").

For the publication of the anthology, the "Third Europe" group received the award of the prestigious political science magazine "Sfera Politici" The two workshops organized in Timisoara succeeded in focusing not only the attention of mass media, but, first of all, the attention of the cultural and academic community all over the country. Thus the concept of Central Europe became subject of intense cultural, historical and socio-political debates. Nine monthly scholarships have been offered along the entire year. The total amount was of 13,200 USD. Within the publishing component of the program the following books were published:

- "The Third Europe" magazine 2,500 USD
- "Europa Centrala dileme, nevroze, utopii", anthology of texts dedicated to the concept of Central Europe, Polirom Publishing House 2,500 USD
- Jacques Le Rider, Mitteleuropa, Polirom Publishing House 1,830 USD Michael Pollack, Vienna 1900, Polirom Publishing House-2,650 USD Konrad Gyorgy, Vizitatorul, Univers Publishing House-2,000 USD Jaroslav Hasek, Peripetiile bravului soldat Sveik, Univers Publishing House-3,500 USD

Monitoring Group for Translation Activities 8,637 MSD

This program had as main goals to enlarge and refine the database of activities connected with translations of foreign books into Romanian, as well as to publish presentation of these activities in English and German.

In 1994, the "Eastern Europe" Documentary Center from the Literature House in Vienna, together with the Austrian Association of Translators, took the initiative of making a database which include all the activities connected to translations in Central and Eastern Europe. This initiative brought together publishing houses, libraries, magazines, higher education and research institutes, literary agencies, professional unions.

University Link Training Scheme 7,018 USD

The University Link Training Scheme set out to address the training needs of practicing publishers at middle management level from Eastern and Central European and former Soviet Union countries by two approaches - both of which, ultimately, have the possibility of running in parallel, though differing in their objectives. The first approach provides internationally recognized publishing training on professional courses offered by academic institutions. The second approach is envisaged as being dedicated to the provision of permanent in-country publishing training courses, thus servicing the needs of the book

The program involved intensive courses comprising a mix of on-campus study (core and optional modular inputs) and practical work experience through placements with selected United Kingdom publishing houses.

The program aims at creating a series of outstanding works in various domains, representing fundamentals of the Romanian culture and civilization, an attempt to create a collection similar to the highly professional but also widely accessible collections of the great western cultures (as the New American Library, Pleiade etc). Wholesale and Retail Book Distribution Network 36,957 USD

It is proposed that a large modern warehouse in Bucharest be constructed to stock a significant range of Romanian and imported titles. The warehouse is intended to provide wholesale book distribution services to the Romanian publishing industry, by wholesaling to booksellers nationwide. It would also feature trade showrooms displaying the full stock range held at the central warehouse in Bucharest. These trade showrooms would thus serve the purpose of keeping booksellers up-to-date with publishing output, and further would provide an order service for stock to be supplied from Bucharest.

The META Foundation Gallery hosted, at the end, the exhibition. The manifestation had a good impact and had positive comments in mass media. A

ART STUDIO PROGRAM - "INTERARTEAST" 11,190 USD

Program Description

At present Romania cannot enter the system of cultural exchange (artistic residence) promoted in the whole Europe due to the lack of facilities. This program aims to support residencies for Romanian the East European artists. The importance of the program is enhanced by the fact that the East-West artistic collaborations are generally encouraged, while the East-East ones are neglected.

In 1997 SCCA in collaboration with the Comparative Art Museum - Sangeorz Bai, organised under "INTERARTeast" program, a manifestation which took place in Sangeorz Bai, Bistrita County.

The curatorial concept was "NEIGHBORHOOD". For two weeks 15 artists from Eastern neighbouring country (Bulgaria, Hungary, Moldavia, Ukraine and Romania) worked together, sharing an open-air working space, using new and traditional media. The exhibition organised in the "URMA" Gallery in Sangeorz Bai showed a selection of three of the works created by each of participating artists. It was itinerated in Bistrita Art Gallery. A rich photo and video documentation will be edited in a digital catalogue. The manifestation had a large audience among artists and art critics from all over the country.
